Greetings,

I am writing to express my sincere interest in the Student Vice-President, Student Life role. With my passion for building an inclusive and vibrant campus community, along with strong leadership and organizational abilities, I believe I can make valuable contributions to this position.

As far I am concerned, student government represents the interests of the student body, advocates for their needs, and facilitates positive change within the educational institution. This includes organizing events, managing budgets, collaborating with administration, supporting student organizations, and enhancing campus life to promote a vibrant and inclusive community. What I love most is connecting with people from diverse backgrounds and helping them grow. I enjoy organizing events where students can learn from each other and have fun. I am also good at speaking in front of groups, so I can promote campus groups and represent their interests.

Applying for the Vice President (Student Life) position in student government would be a wonderful way for me to help make the campus better for everyone. As Vice President, I can organize fun events, listen to what students need, and make sure everyone feels included. I will get to plan activities that help students relax and have an enjoyable time, while also making sure prominent issues like mental health and diversity are addressed. By working with other students and school leaders, I can make the college experience more enjoyable and supportive for everyone.

During my time at Mithila Institute of Technology in Nepal, I was involved in many student groups. And as an active event leader of the Lion Club Janakpur, Nepal, I worked with different organization, schools, and other club leaders to plan fun events that brought students together. We organized the Mithila Marathon every 3 months and found the sponsors by ourselves. During my school I was captain of one of the leading teams among four and we won the title of best team and in most matches in 2018 and 2019. I managed my time well so I could handle these responsibilities while keeping up with my studies.

Beside these, I have also volunteered blood donation camps organized by our municipal health department and a private hospital named Phul Kumari Mahato Memorial Hospital. I was also involved in the camp organized by Karjanha youth club in which we donated masks, sanitizers, hand wash and provided one hour awareness classes about preventive measures of Covid-19. But my interest in helping others goes beyond just social activities. I have been involved in discussions between different departments and want to improve how they work together. I am also passionate about doing good in our community and would love to organize projects that make a positive impact. With my people skills, ability to adapt, and genuine desire to help others succeed, I am confident I can do well in this role. I am excited to bring innovative ideas, create an inclusive atmosphere, and help students grow in all aspects of their lives.

Working in student government while pursuing a fitness career will help me to become a better leader and communicator. I will get a chance to meet lots of people, which can open doors for me in the fitness world. Plus, I will learn about budgeting and finance and handling conflicts, which are important skills for any job in fitness. Basically, being part of student government helps you build the confidence and knowledge I need to succeed in the fitness industry. Overall, involvement in student government will complement me to the journey as a fitness Student by providing valuable leadership, communication, organizational, and interpersonal skills.

Thank you for considering me. I am looking forward to talking more about how I can enhance the Student Life experience at Loyalist College.

Sincerely,

Sandesh Mahato
